

Summary

Bachelor thesis Pastoral and Spiritual Care in Czech Health Care deals with situation of pastoral movement in health department. The goal of the thesis is to find out how is spiritual and pastoral care mediated and provided in chosen health institution. The thesis consists of four chapters. The first chapter deals with human dimensions of bio-psycho-social-spiritual model. The second chapter is focused on pastoral care and spirituality and its roots and understanding in modern times. The third chapter involve profession of chaplains in health care and pastoral workers, the legislative, their education and competencies, code of ethics, comparism with other countries. Chapter also includes information about organizations which are connected with chaplains in health care in Czech republic and in Europe. The forth chapter is focused on actual health institution, especially in Military hospital Olomouc as an example where is provided pastoral care. Chapter also includes information about pastoral care in Olomouc and in Olomouc region.